Translations

German and English translations of bolyongo.blog can be read here. I originally write the blog in Hungarian, as this is my mother tongue, but I live in Germany and the professional language used in my work is English – which is why I have decided to rewrite some of the posts myself or have them translated. The deepL translation system, which can be embedded into the dokuWiki CMS, and the Grammarly grammar-checking programme are a great help to me in this regard.
